HTSPOTLIGHT

Game, set and match to true grit

STANDING TALL These are two tales of sporting excellence with different shades. One showcases a Kanpur-based woman handball player's journey through the ups and downs of life and the other puts the spotlight on how an ace weightlifter has to contend with a difficult ground reality at home but remains determined to scale new heights easy for the family to make ends meet as Jyoti's parents had to provide for her four siblings as ily gives credit to her courage and the help she received from her school's sports teacher

Ramakanti, coach RajatAditya

Jyoti started playing handball when she was in class 6 at the Purna Devi Girls Inter College. Her teacher Ramakanti had introduced her to handball coachAtul Misrain 2008 and he started training her at the Success came quickly as she won her first gold medal at the district level handball championship in 2008 and another gold at the national level handball

Impressed by her skills,

RajatAditya Dixit referred her to the Sports Authority of India

Dixit and Atal Misra.

Green Park stadium.

championship in 2009.

For Jyoti's success, the fam-

Jyoti Shukla on her return to Kanpur from the Asian Games.

Jyoti first from Kanpur to represent India in Asiad

No proper road to her house, Punam still paves future with hope sudifickumarl@hindustantimes.com

VARANASI: Reaching weightlifter Punam Yadav's houseat Dandupur village in Varanasi is not easy. A mudroad leading to the dwelling turns slippery after

The Commonwealth Games gold medalwinner and herfamily have nochoice but to negotiate the slushy stretch as the promise to build a concrete road has not been fulfilled.

Punam Yaday and herfamily members either walk or drive on the over 200 metre dirt track to reach the Varanasi-Sindhauraroad. Anarrow path connectingher house to the nearest road from the other side is also muddy.

After Punam struck gold in the Commonwealth Games in the 69 kg category in April, the then district magistrate Yogeshwar Ram Mishra visited her village and announced that the mud road leading to her house will be made 'pucca'.

Almost five months later, the weightlifter's family is still waitingfor the promise to be kept.

"The then DM sahib visited my house to congratulate us on Punam's victory in the Commonwealth Games.

He wished Punam good luck and promised construction of an house. But the road is yet to be built." herfather Kailash Yadav

It is too difficult to drive a scootyon the dirttrack, he complains. He hopes road construction will begin after the rains as a consignment of material (stone chips) was dumped near the site over a month ago.

Punam says, "The lack of a

SPIRITED PERFORMERS

Punam Yadav and her father Kailash on a dirt track that leads to RAJESH KUMAR/HTPHOTO their house on the outskirts of Varanasi.

ALMOST FIVE MONTHS

LATER, THE WEIGHTLIFTER'S FAMILY IS STILL WAITING FOR THE

pucca road has made things inconvenient. The path turns slipperyanda scooty may skid." Nevertheless, she expresses confidence the road will be constructed eventually. Adistrict administration official says, "A consignment of stone chips has already reached the site to construct a road leading to the weightlifter's house. Construction work will begin very soon." Things are also looking up for Punam on the job front. She says the state governmenthas started the process for appointing her as a regional sports officer.

She recently visited Lucknow and met the authorities concerned in this connection. Later, she filled in forms and completed other formalities for the After her Commonwealth Games feat, a government job was announced for her.

Shesaysshetold officials that shewas not interested in joining as deputy superintendent of police but was keen on becomingaregional sportsofficer. The state government authorities accepted her decision and the process to appoint her as RSO has begun, she says.

"Sports is mypassion.Ican't stay away from it. Therefore, I decided to be a regional sports officer, Asan RSO, I will work to create an environment for promotion of sports. I will train the youngsters who want to make a career in weightlifting," she She says she will work to realiseherdream of having a sports stadium equipped with the best training facilities at her village. Shesays she will also try to participate in the next Commonwealth Games.

XPRESSIONS

An hour of empowerment

tthe Community EmpowermentLab(CEL)inLucknow, we do a lot of talking about Kangaroo Mother Care (KMC)-extended periods of skin-to-skin contact between the mother and her newborn along with exclusive breastfeeding-how effective it is compared. to traditional incubators, how often it should be given, what it will take to increase uptake.

However, there is a barrier to articulating the intangible aspects of this practice. To truly understand KMC, you have to giveit, so that's what I did. I went to the Veerangana Avanti Bai Women's Hospital in Lucknow and gave KMC to a baby for just one hour. I will try, briefly, to describe this wonderfully overwhelming experience.

When they placed him on my chest and I felt his small heart beating against my own, Tunderstood everything we promise to mothers when we say KMC is more than just a recommended healthcare practice. I felt love, responsibility, agency, bonding, and empowerment. I had no prior attachment to this baby; I didn't even knowhis name until halfway through, but this put our bonding into even sharper, more undeniable relief.

I wanted to stay by him, conwince him I loved him, that everything would be okay, and that I would protect him. I was praying over him and singing to him. I was actually healing this baby as he slept on my chest, and he was healing me. At the end of the hour. I didn't want to give him up. I wish I had the vocabulary to adequately articulate what can only be described as the divinity of this experience. Andnow, Ican'thelp butwonder whysomething so beautiful and successful, has only been championed in field of healthcare in recent decades. It is with intentionality that I call this practice "innate"; 21st century public health researchers didn't invent KMC. Rather, its effectiveness is rooted in human nature itself, and this cannot be ignored. Since the fascination with technology hasfailed to do much in the way of curbing neonatal mortality, it is time look within for revival. Modern medicine must stop circumventing humanity in trying to solve public health problems. In 2003, the team at CEL started a movement, right here in UP, with the simple and powerful idea that mothers and babies should be at the centre of innovation in maternal and newborn health.

Kangaroo mother care refers to the practice of continuous skin-to-skin contact between mother and baby.

Fifteen years later and KMC is on the verge of a massive expansion. There are now KMC lounges in 68 hospitals and CHCs, designed to provide empathetic spaces in which women are empowered to do the very thing they were built for. They are finally and rightfully recognized as powerful beings with agency and ability. These lounges are the manifestation of the groundbreaking realisation that acknowledging human nature transforms lives. And being reminded of this doesn't just heal the babies or the mothers; allowing ourselves to be inspired into action by this focus on humanity can heal the brokenness in the healthcare system, and it may be the only way to begin healing our society.

We can present studies and statistics to convince someone but for anyone still skeptical, I recommend they try it. Give KMC and put what research tells us; the proof of its power will be inspirational. Take an hour, feel empowered.

(The writer is a student at Stanford University in the United States where she is completing her BS in Human Biology and Global Child Health. Views expressed are personal.)

MARISAWILLSON

shortstories

Haider:nagvi@findustantimes.com

KANPUR: Jyoti Shukla became the first Kanpur sportsperson to represent India in any Asiad

when she played for the country as a member of the women's handball team in the Jakarta Palembang Asian Games. The women's handball team finished ninth in the recently con-

It was no mean feat for a Little wonder, her father

Shiv Shankar Shukla describes

He says she overcame many

"She made it to the Indian obstacles to make it to the team despite our family facing its worstfinancial crisis for the last10years,"hesays.Itwasnot

Indian team at the age of 20.

player from a city, which is oth-arwise synonymous with cluded Asian Games.

cricket and cricketers.

Jyoti as a gritty girl.

MAN RAPES FRIEND'S WIFE IN MOVING CAR

MEERUT: A man allegedly raped the wife of his differently-abled friend in a moving car on Delhi-Saharan pur highway in Baghpat district on Tuesday, police said. Superintendent of police, Baghpat, Shailesh Kumar Pandey said a case had been registered in Baraut Kotwali on the complaint of the rape survivor's husband.Police said the complainant claimed that he had developed friendship with Faroog who later started visiting his house in Baraut area of Baghpat.He said Farooq telephoned him on Monday and said he was going to Ghaziabad for some work and, if hewanted, his wife could go with him to meet her sister Believing Farooq, the man allowed hiswife to gowith him."Faroog who used to claim that he treated my wife as his sister, started molesting her in the car. When she resisted, he raped her at gunpoint," he told the

Couple ends life on board North East express train on board the North East express train in outer of Kanpur railway station and died on Wednesday. They had eloped from Muzaffarnagar on August 30 and were living together in Allahabad. They were recovered from a flat and were being taken back to Muzaffarnagar where the girl's father had filed a complaint of kidnapping against Mohammad Abid with Meerapur police. Kanpur SHO of GRP Ram Mohan Rai said the couple was brought down to Kanpur central in the morning. From here the police team accompanied by girl's father changed train and board NE

Kanpur girl goes missing from IIT Roorkee

KANPUR: A physically challenged MTech first year student from Kanpur has gone missing from IIT Roorkee's Khosla hostel, Akansha Dwivedi, who is from Roora, Kanpur Dehat, had taken admission in electrical engineering in July this year. She had done her BTech from an engineering college in Lucknow, where her grandmother also lives. KANPUR: A couple consumed poison Her father SP Dwivedi, a hardware dealer in Roora, said she had come for an exam on September 1 to Lucknow and reached Roorkee on September 3.

> Notorious criminal nabbed in encounter in Pratapgarh

Hostel in Lucknow in 2010 for rigorous training. Within three months, Jyoti got a good platform to exhibit her talent at the regional, district and later at the national level. She won a gold medal at the state level championship in 2011 and another gold medal at an international championship in 2015, besides a bronze medal in

in the South Asian Handball

ChampionshipatDhakain2016.

She represented the country in Sweden too but the team failed

Young Rising Player Award in herajobwith the North Eastern

Railway in 2016. She was head

TTE (travelling ticket examiner) at Gorakhpur and played for the railways, Dixitsaid.

In Singapore, she bagged the

Her success in handball got to secure any position there.

Jyoti also won a gold medal

Uzbekistan.

ALLAHABAD: A wanted notorious criminal was injured in an encounter with cops in Kandhai area of Pratapgarh district. The injured criminal identified as Javed was arrested while two of his accomplices managed to flee the scene. Javed, who had several cases of loot and murder against him, was admitted to the district hospital where the doctors referred him to SRN hospital in Allahabad, SP Pratapgarh Dev Ranjan Verma said, on a tip off, the police team spotted Javed and his two aides at his native village Canhaidih in Kandhai area on Wednesday. However, instead of surrendering, Javed and his accomplices opened fire on policemen.

EX-RANJI PLAYER COMMITS SUICIDE

GORAKHPUR: A senior officer of the North Eastern Railway (NER) and former Ranji cricketer allegedlycommitted suicide by shootinghimself at his official bungalow in the Shahpur area here, police said on Wednesday. Tarun Shukla, 56, who was posted as the deputy chief commercial manager, was found dead in the drawingroom of his residence on Tuesdayafternoon and a revolver was found lying near him, they said. A two-page suicide notewas recovered from the spot. Police have found that the handwriting in the suicide note matches with that of Shukla and post-mortem report is awaited. Shukla was a Ranji Trophy cricketer. A native of Bareilly district, had been the captain of NE railwaycricketteam for 10 years and played in the Ranji Trophy from 1980 to 82.

Family members of IPS officer Suresh Das in Kanpur. (Right) Officials outside Regency Hospital where Das was admitted.

Police officer seemed deeply troubled, say personal staff HT Correspondent letters@findustantimes.com FAMILY REMAINS TIGHT-LIPPED

KANPUR: Indian Police Service

(IPS) officer Surendra Kumar Das had cancelled all his engagements on Tuesday and did not come out of his residence after 4pm, his followers (personal staff) told the authorities on Wednesday. The followers posted at his residence also told the authorities Das seemed deeply troubled. The officer was posted in Kanpur as superintendent of police (East) on August 7. His in-laws live in Sarvodaya Nagar, Kakadeo, on the Employees' State Insurance Corporation (ESIC) campus. His wife Raveena, pursuing a masters course in surgery, is a resident doctor at Ganesh Shankar Vidyarthi Memorial (GSVM) Medical College here. Her father Ravendra Singh is a medical officer with the ESI Corporation and mother Reena Singh is a homemaker. The in-laws had come down to Das's residence in the evening and stayed back. The Singhs haven't spoken about the purpose of their visit or why Das was distressed.

Additional director general of police (Kanpurzone) Avinash Chandra said the officer consumed poison under mysterious circumstances and the reason behind it was personal. "Our priority right now is saving his life, we will investigate the reasons threadbare

KANPUR: The family members of himself back before joining his mother and wife Sunita in the car.

reached Kanpur from Lucknow on Wednesday but refused to comment on the suicide attempt by the IPS officer. All his mother Indu Devi said was: "Ab kya kahen babua" (what should I say son)." His brother Narendra Kumar Das

The family was present when the forensic experts opened the room and collected evidence. The family belongs to Ballia but later settled in Lucknow. Surendra Kumar Das studied electrical engineering but chose to become an IPS officer. His superior officers said he was a clear headed and hardworking officer.

The news of Das attempting suicide left the police shell-

Some officers spoke to his followers in the house, who said Das had virtually locked himself in the room. Around 4pm, he told his gunner and driver that him only when he was being taken to the hospital about 5am.

NEIGHBOURSAND FRIENDS IN PRAYER Neighbours and family friends are praying for the life of Surendra Das, whose family stays in Ekta Nagar locality behind SGPGI in Lucknow. Hisfamily. including father RCD as, mother Indu Devi and younger brother Narendra Das, had reached Kanpuron Wednesday morning itself.

Surendra's friends Karun Shanker Dixit and Sushil were found at his home, busy calling his family to know his condition.

His friends said Surendra was very studious since his school days and used to lock himself in a room for hours for studies when he was preparing for civil services examination. They said he came from a very humble background and worked very hard to clear the

Mumbai specialists air-dash to Kanpur with ECMO KANPUR: A team of specialist doctors has left Mumbai with an extracorporeal membrane oxygenation machine (ECMO) on a chartered flight to help the doctorstreating IPS officer Surendra Kumar Das, who allegedly attempted suicide. Themachineisnotavailablein Kanpur. The Regency Hospital here asked Dr Pranav Ojha in MumbaitoflytoKanpur.

Regency Hospital chief medical superintendent Dr Rajesh Agarwal said the hospital had considered two options: first to call Dr Ojha to Kanpur or airlift Das to Mumbai after evaluating his condition. It was not deemed prudentto use an air ambulance given Das's condition, the hospitaldoctors said. The ECMO is like the heart-lung machine used in open heart surgery.

It drains blood from the veins, adding oxygen and removing the carbon dioxide. The machine keeps the blood warm and then returns the blood to the artery. It pumps blood through the body. This method allows the blood to bypass the heart and lungs, allowing them to restand get bet-

THE MACHINE KEEPS THE BLOOD WARM AND THEN RETURNS THE BLOOD TO THE ARTERY 'PUMPS BLOOD THROUGH THE BOOM

PRINTED AND DISTRIBUTED BY PRESSREADER pressreader PressReader.com +1 604 278 4604 COPYRIGHT AND PROTECTED BY APPLICABLE LAW

YAMLA PAGLA DEEWANA PHIR SE (U/A) 9:40um, 10:40um, 12:45, 3:50 :50, 6:55, 10:00, 11:00 pm | STREE (U/A) 9:15pm, 11:40pm, 2:30, 5:20, 8:10 1:00 pm | HAPPY PHIRR BHAG JAYEGI (U/A) 10:20em, 4:25, 10:20 pm

lowest prices on

VINAYAK CITY CENTER

🛾 www.pvrcinemas.com | 🖸 PVR mobile app 🔾 🕞

3 drown as boat capsizes in Saryu HT Correspondent

letters@findustantimes.com

LUCKNOW: Three people, including a boatman, drowned on Wednesday afternoon when a boat carrying six people capsized in Saryu riverin Ayodhya (Faizabad district), nearly 135 kilometreseast of Lucknow, police said. The incident took place when three people, who had come to Avodhva for a 'mundan' ceremony of a child, went to the middle of the river along with three boatmen to click selfies. Chief minister Yogi Adityanath announced an ex-gratia of Rs 4 lakh each to the families of the deceased and directed the tion to start rescue and relief operation. The CM asked the officials to provide assistance to rescued people and directed all the district magistrates in the state to take steps to check overloading in boats.

police and district administra-

Confirmingtheincidentover phone, senior superintendent of police (SSP), Faizabad, Akhilesh Kumar Chaurasia said three people of a family, who had come to Ayodhya for the 'mundan' ceremony of a child, went in the middle of the river to click selfies. "Joginder, one of the rescued members of the family, said

Two boatmen managed to swim out of the river while Monu and Joginder were rescued by divers ,AKHILESH KUMAR CHAURASIA, senior superintendent of police

Monu and Bahadur wanted to click selfies while taking a boat ride. Joginder, Monu and Bahadur along with three boatmen went to the middle of the river at around 3.30 pm," the SSP said. He added that the remaining members of the family stayed back to perform 'mundan' ritu-Chaurasia said as the boat capsized, Bahadur and boatman Rakesh got trapped below the boat. "Two boatmen managed to swim out of the river while Monu and Joginder were rescued by divers. The bodies of Bahadur and Rakesh were fished out while Monu died during treatment at the hospital," he said. On August 24, at least 10 peo-rying 27 people capsized in the Ganga in Bijnor district. The remaining 17 people were rescued by the police flood team ple had drowned after a boat car-tried to say something but held later," he said.

shocked in Kanpur.

he won't be going anywhere. The staff at his residence saw